FACE SALES TAX

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—For the third time, the fourth special session of the 57th General Assembly today voted down a one per cent county optional sales tax for emergency relief. The bill needed 102 votes to pass as an emergency measure but received only 87, and 29 votes were cast against it.

Before the vote had been announced, however, and defeat of the bill written down in the record, a motion was made and carried to postpone consideration. This opens the way for another vote.

Cook county members voted for the bill and also about half of the downstate representation, but all the negative votes were from downstate.

This bill, offered by Homer Tice, Republican of Petersburg, would have equipped every county with means of relief, by providing that a one per cent tax on sales of tangible personal property, excepting farm products, might be assessed by two thirds vote of the county board.

To conform to the Supreme Court's decision in the income tax case, the bill was amended to make it an optional county tax upon persons engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail.

The court pointed out that the legislature's power is limited to taxing property by valuation, occupations, privileges and franchises, so the Tice bill was amended to make it a tax upon sellers.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—Edwin L. Ryerson, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, speaking for relief bills before the House of Representatives, today declared Illinois must face a state-wide sales tax.

W. C. Chynoweth, Republican, Decatur, got this energetic statement from Ryerson when he interrupted him in his address approving the $17,000,000 Cook county relief bond issue bill introduced yesterday to ask if it together with the Meents new referendum bond issue bill would take care of Cook county's emergency needs.

Ryerson replied that the two bills were needed, but not sufficient, that the state wide sales tax must be considered "sooner or later, for Illinois must come to it."

Meet the issue now," Ryerson urged. "We have been going on from month to month until the situation is terrible. I am concerned for the entire state. There are people everywhere we must feed. We must face the facts. It is absurd to go along as in the past. We must make some adjustment now for the next six months."

To Bridge Need
The $17,000,000 bond issue for Cook county, proposed yesterday was approved by Mr. Ryerson as just enough to bridge over the need, until something definite is done to meet the problem, he said.

Other speakers heard on the desperate need in Cook county were P. J. O'Connor, Cook county Controller, and William Sexton, Corporation Counsel and member of the Emergency Commission.

While the House listened to speeches, the Senators marked time, received two bills and passed until 4 o'clock next Monday afternoon, at which time they will hold a public hearing on the House bills before them, and take action on the resolution adopted in the House yesterday, calling for a special session for the repeal of the Illinois prohibition act and the search and seizure law.

Senator Simon E. Lantz, Republican, Congerville, introduced the two new bills, one of which would take the gross receipts of the Cook county public utility companies five per cent until July 1, 1933 for Cook county relief purposes. It would require a two-thirds vote of the county board which might also permit the utilities companies to pass on the increased cost to the consumer.

The other bill was a three per cent Cook county sales tax on tangible personal property excepting food stuffs and farm products, to be effective until July 1, 1933.

The House wants another opportunity to pass a bill repealing the state's prohibition laws and the search and seizure act.

The representatives, by a vote of 68 to 21, yesterday adopted a resolution asking Gov. Emmerson to call another special session for the purpose of considering repeal.

The O'Grady repeal bill, passed at a previous session of the Assembly, was vetoed by Gov. Emmerson.

The Assembly can not act on prohibition at the present special session as the subject was not included in Governor Emmerson's call.

The Assembly reconvened yesterday after adjournment occasioned by general election. Unemployment legislation is on the calendar.

Session In Disorder
The session was plunged into disorder at the outset as 115 members of the Chicago Council of the Unemployed attempted to force their way into the halls. Seven spokesmen were permitted to enter, and the others forced by State Highway Policemen to take seats in the gallery.

Joe Weber, one of the spokesmen, was ordered ejected when he started to assault the Speaker for permitting him but five minutes to

OFFICIAL COUNT OF STATE'S VOTE
TO BE DELAYEDWill Not be Available
For Two Weeks, Poll
Expert Declares

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—Announcement of the official majorities by which Illinois elected Judge Henry Horner its next Governor and put other Democrats into office, will not be available for about two weeks, Lewis Vogel, election expert of the Secretary of State's office said today.

Doubt still persisted as to the status of two of the propositions voted on at the election.

Based on available returns, it was unofficially predicted today that the official canvass would show that the "gateway amendment" to the State Constitution had been defeated again, but that the amendment to the banking law, permitting closed banks to pledge assets for loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had been passed.

From various counties reports have been received that many voters neglected to vote on the two propositions, which were printed on the left hand side of the ballots. This neglect was regarded as fatal to the "Gateway Amendment," which required a majority of all votes cast in the election, but the amendment to the banking act was successful because it needed only a majority of votes cast on it.

The little ballot on which the $20,000,000 referendum bond issue was printed passed by a great majority, although it needed a majority of all votes cast for legislative candidates.

If Cook county runs true to form, its report of election figures will not be received here until some time in December, the Secretary of State's office said. Various other counties have not been heard from yet.

Philadelphia Home
Robbed Of $9,000

Philadelphia, Nov. 16—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. G. Harrison Frazier, Jr., socially prominent Philadelphians, and a maid were bound, gagged and threatened with torture in their home early today by two burglars who escaped with $9,000 in jewelry and cash.

For two and a half hours they lay helpless on the floor of the living room, struggling with cloths and ropes with which the robbers had bound their hands and feet.

Finally Mrs. Frazier managed to crawl to an ash tray, strike a match, burn her own bonds and release her husband and the maid, Elizabeth Catlin.

WINTER ATTACKS
MIDWEST; HEAVY
SNOWS REPORTEDSub-Freezing Temperatures
In Various Parts Of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Concentrating its attack in the Missouri river valley area, winter spread sub-freezing temperature, snow, rain and sleet over the vast area between the Rockies and the Appalachians today.

Normal weather conditions prevailed on the Pacific coast south of Oregon, the Rockies, areas adjacent to the Gulf of Mexico and in the New England and middle Atlantic states.

At least eight deaths were ascribed to the unexpected bitter weather, four each in Missouri and Illinois. Five succumbed in train-motorcar collisions, two in auto accidents and one drowned when a boat was upset in heavy waves. Snow blanketed virtually all of Missouri and Illinois, reaching near blizzard proportions in some sections of the latter state and reaching a depth of nearly a foot in northern Missouri.

Travel Hampered
Travel both by air and land was hampered. Snow plows were pressed into service and unemployed had jobs clearing snow from the streets and walks.

Pittsburgh, Kas., reported a minimum of 7 degrees above zero. Montana was warmer after sub-zero temperatures. Gales were abating along the north Pacific coast but heavy rains continued in sections of Washington and Oregon. Texas reported the coldest weather of the season.

In southwest Missouri agriculturalists said the "freeze would be worth a fortune" to farmers and fruit growers. They explained the sudden temperature drop would kill insect pests infesting orchards and fields.

BLIZZARDS IN "EGYPT"

Centralia, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—Winters first blizzard swept over southern Illinois last night causing a number of accidents and delaying train service.

Blinded by the snow, Sidney A. Reed of Richview, 12 miles south of Centralia, escaped death early this morning when he jumped from his truck just before it was struck by an Illinois Central passenger train at a Richview grade crossing.

The driver of the truck claimed he did not see the train until too late to stop. The truck was completely demolished.

In another storm accident, Miss Amelia Pfeiffer, truant officer of the Centralia public schools, was injured when her car skidded into a switching engine. Hospital attendants said she was not seriously injured and suffered mostly from shock.

An Illinois Central engine was derailed by a snow drift in the Centralia yards.

Train service on the Southern Railroad and the Illinois Central was impeded by the storm. The Illinois Central reported trains from one to two hours late.

As far as could be learned no highways in southern Illinois were blocked by drifts but workers were busy today cleaning off the roads to speed up traffic. The snowfall averaged from four to six inches in various sections of "little Egypt."

NINE HIGHWAYS BLOCKED

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—Nine state highway routes in the eastern part of Illinois were still blocked by snow this morning, after an all night struggle by the Highway Department to keep the traffic lanes open. Five snow plows from other parts of the state were sent in early today and the prediction was made that blockades would be broken by evening.

A ten inch snowfall, accompanied by a high wind which caused drifting, resulted in the blockades. The district affected is bordered by Decatur, Vandalia, Marshall and Hoopston.

While the snow storm covered more than two thirds of the state, all roads, with the exception of those in the blockade area, were open to traffic this morning. However, traffic was proceeding very slowly because of the icy condition of the pavements. In many sections of the storm area, maintenance crews covered the pavements at intersections, and hills and curves with a quantity of cinders to make the roads safe for travel.

UNUSUAL MIXTURE
Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—The weather man today presented the country with an unusual mixture of subnormal and abnormal temperatures.

Over the eastern section of the United States the thermometer was above the seasonal average, with readings in New Jersey and along the coast of Maryland, ten degrees above the mean.

Cold chilled the Ohio valley, the Weather Bureau reported, with temperatures in its west and southwest portions, 20 degrees below the average.

HEAVY SNOW IN OHIO

Toledo, O., Nov. 16—(AP)—A nine-inch snow fall, a record here for November, covered Toledo this morning as the temperature fell to 29. Traffic was slowed and blocked. A wind drifted the snow and to Maryland Lady

Baltimore, Nov. 16—(AP)—James K. Cullen, Chief Assistant United States District Attorney here, today prepared for the return of Wayland R. Kerns, former Judge Advocate General of the bonus expeditionary force, to Baltimore to answer charges of extortion and sending a threatening and obscene letter through the mail.

Kerns, arrested in the Richmond, Va., post office yesterday, was held in the Richmond jail in default of $1,000 bail pending a removal hearing. A second letter was in the possession of United States District Attorney Simon E. Sobeloff here.

The arrest of Kerns followed the receipt of the first letter by Mrs. Maude Edgell of Catonsville, Md., who had offered a haven on her wooded property near Woodbury, Md., last summer to the veterans after they were driven from Washington during the evacuation of their camps there.

The authorities asserted the letter stated that unless Mrs. Edgell sent the writer $10 to pay his fare back to Baltimore he would come back anyhow. It was signed "Wayland" and had a return address of "W. R. Kerns, general delivery, Richmond, Va."

CAPONE PLEADS
FOR FREEDOM IN FEDERAL COURT

A Petition For Writ Of Habeas Corpus Is Heard Today

BULLETIN
Atlanta, Nov. 16—(AP)—Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood today took under advisement the motion of government counsel to dismiss Al Capone's writ of habeas corpus to obtain his release from the Atlanta Federal penitentiary.

Judge Underwood gave attorneys for both sides a week in which to file briefs setting forth their contentions.

Throughout the morning and into the afternoon, counsel for the Chicago gangster and the federal government argued technical points in Capone's effort to gain freedom on the claim that he is illegally imprisoned under the statute of limitations.

Attorneys for the gangster contend he is illegally imprisoned under the statute of limitations. They filed the writ seeking his release last September.

Lindsay reviewed the Supreme Court decisions on which Capone's counsel base their petition and entered into a long technical discussion of the case.

Capone, who began serving a sentence in the federal penitentiary here six months ago for income tax evasion, entered the court room a few minutes before the opening of the case. He appeared to have lost much weight during his incarceration. He was brought from the Atlanta Federal penitentiary to the federal building an hour and a half before the scheduled time for the hearing.

His early removal, federal officials stated, was in order to avoid a crowd. He reached the federal building at 8:31 A. M. and his hearing started at 10 A. M.

With Two Officers
Capone was dressed in a blue suit, and wore no hat. He was manacled and two officers accompanied him from the federal penitentiary on the outskirts of the city. The trip was made in an automobile.

The gangster was taken directly to the office of the United States Marshal.

A few persons had gathered at an entrance to the building through which he was expected to pass but federal officials, to avoid even a small crowd, entered through another door.

Marshall Lewis H. Crawford posted a number of Deputy Marshals about the third floor corridor on which the court room is located and they were instructed to keep the corridor clear.

Prior to the hearing the court room was kept locked to avoid congestion of early arrivals.

Mrs. Reynolds To Name Baby "Smith"
Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 16—Freed from the cloud of a murder indictment, Libby Holman Reynolds was to confer with her attorneys at an unannounced place today.

Inclusion, Mrs. Reynolds received the news yesterday that the state had dropped the murder charge against her growing out of the death of her young millionaire husband, Smith Reynolds, last July 6.

The young widow is expecting a child, whom, she said, would be named Smith, whether it is a boy or girl.

Her attorneys in a statement last night said Mrs. Reynolds was pleased at the outcome of the case, but they did not reveal her whereabouts.

DAVIS WINS ANOTHER
Billy Davis of this city added another to his long list of fistie victories Monday evening when he appeared on a double windup featuring a card of bouts at the LaSalle auditorium. Davis out-pounded Walter Stankus of Chicago and was altogether too clever for his Windy City opponent. Although Davis won all three rounds, Stankus kept in the running with an occasional burst to Billy's head. Stankus was cut under the nose in the second round and sustained a bad cut over the left eye in the third. Davis did not get out unmarked, suffering a cut on the lip. Stankus gave away two pounds to Davis who came into the ring weighing 144 pounds.

Edward Lawton of Palmyra township, was the victim of monoxide gas while working in a garage at the Glen Swarts farm Tuesday morning. He with Mr. Swarts were engaged in starting the motor of an automobile in the garage at the time. Mr. Swarts left the garage for a short time, leaving the door partly open and when he returned, he found Mr. Lawton unconscious on the floor.

He carried the young man outdoors and summoned assistance. Artificial respiration was resorted to and after a time, the victim recovered and was removed to his home. He was still quite weak today, but was recovering from the effects of the poisonous gas.

Dr. Sickels Laid
Tenderly To Rest

The large attendance at the funeral services of Dr. E. A. Sickels at the Presbyterian church yesterday was a stirring testimony to the great love and esteem which the people of Dixon and surrounding communities held for this man who for so many years has used his skill and knowledge for the saving of human life and the comforting and alleviation of human pain. The church was entirely filled and the flowers sent by hundreds of friends made a beautiful display. The services, conducted by Rev. J. Franklin Young were dignified and fitting.

Among the out of town relatives and friends attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Lew Sickels, Ted Sickels and Helen Sickels of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. James Sickels of South Bend, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Surman of Springfield, Ill., and Mrs. W. DIXONITES WILL VOTE ON BUYING
WATER COMPANYCity Council Is Expected
To Fix January 3rd
As Election Day

January 3, 1933 is the date that has been decided upon for the special city election which will decide whether or not the city of Dixon shall proceed with a bond issue and purchase the Dixon Water Company or whether that institution will continue to function under private ownership. This was decided through the introduction of a special ordinance by the city council at their regular weekly meeting last evening.

The polling places and judges and clerks of the special election were named in the ordinance as follows:

First precinct—Blackhawk hotel—Robert Espey, Henry Noble, Charles Howard, judges; Franc Ingraham, Myrtle Whalen and Charles Willford, clerks.

Second precinct—J. L. Glassburn garage—R. C. Covey, William Root, Donald Grover, judges; Viola Strub, Florence Hopkins and Jane Wickey, clerks.

Third precinct—Arthur Miller garage—Allie Plein, William Dowd, Mark Brown, judges; Ella Rusch, Mertie Clayton and Catherine Hoberg, clerks.

Fourth precinct—Finkler store—Walter Ward, Louis Franks, George L. Welch, judges; Vivian Gibson, Bessie Leydig and Mollie Handel, clerks.

Fifth precinct—Countryman garage—Harold W. Taylor, Samuel W. Cushing, Fred A. Mulkins, judges; Frank E. Chapman, Dora Pruett and Rita Atkins, clerks.

Sixth precinct—Raymond's coal office—Charles Trombold, George E. Curtis and Albert L. Curtiss, judges; Margaret Richards, Elizabeth Andrew and Marie Duffy, clerks.

The polls will open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The ordinance providing for the referendum will remain on file in the office of City Clerk Blake Grover for one week before its passage at the next regular meeting of the city council.

Change Polling Place
In the selection of polling places, the second precinct in city elections, which for many years has been the city hall, has been changed to the J. L. Glassburn garage. The change was said to have resulted from an alteration between members of the council and the general election last week when the Mayor issued an order that the voting booths should not be set up in the room used by the police department and Commissioner Nichols defied the order and permitted the holding of the election as in previous years.

Consider Children
Commissioner John Loftus called to the attention of the council the necessity for setting aside certain streets in the city on which children might slide during the winter months. He reported that children were sliding down Third street and across the intersection of Peoria avenue, a very dangerous corner. The mayor stated that he had been alarmed by members of the Park Board of the council at the general election last week when the Mayor issued an order that the voting booths should not be set up in the room used by the police department and Commissioner Nichols defied the order and permitted the holding of the election as in previous years.

added to difficulties. The heaviest previous November snow recorded by the Weather Bureau was in 1913 when 6 1-2 inches fell.

HIGHWAY BLOCKED

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 6—(AP)—A nine-inch fall of snow, the worst November storm in thirty-four years hereabouts, stopped all Champaign county auto traffic today. Crews were at work maintaining railroad service with difficulty and hundreds of men were struggling to clear state highways 10, 25 and 39, and various important city arteries.

Springfield Miner

Shot During Riot

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—A mine engineer was shot through the shoulder and a number of others were reported beaten in a clash between miners reporting for work at the Cora mine of the Peabody Coal Company here today and pickets of Progressive miners. State Highway Police under Chief Walter L. Moody and Sheriff's deputies were rushed to the scene and restored order. The man shot was Robert J. Christ of Springfield. He was taken to St. John's hospital where attaches said the wound was not serious.

The Cora mine was opened yesterday, the first to attempt to operate in the Springfield area with miners of the United Mine Workers Union since the start of hostilities in the Illinois coal field war. About 200 Progressive pickets were reported to have accosted the diggers this morning.

Buffalo Shippers

Oppose New Canal

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—Buffalo shippers and grain dealers appeared before a Senate Foreign Relations sub-committee today in opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with the argument that the proposed outlet from the Great Lakes to the sea would result in no material saving in the cost of transporting wheat.

Several spokesmen for Buffalo interests, including a representative of that city's Chamber of Commerce, joined in urging the committee to reject the treaty which was signed with Canada last July. The general tenor of their case was that existing facilities on the Great Lakes are adequate for handling the grain trade and that construction of the waterway would be an expensive project of doubtful value.

Young Wife, Sick,
Estranged, Suicide

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—Leaving behind several notes and unhappy love poems for her estranged husband, Mrs. Ruby Jane Short, 26, formerly of Whitehall, Ill., died in the Presbyterian hospital today several hours after she had swallowed poison in her room in a southside rooming house. Her husband, Paul Short of East Chicago, Ind., now a third year medical student at Loyola University, was notified but arrived at her bedside too late. Police said they learned the young woman had been forced to abandon a nursing course at the Cook county hospital because of ill health. They said they learned from the rooming house operator that the pair had separated some time ago after a series of quarrels and that the girl had been much unhappy and upset the last few months.

COUPLE IN TROUBLE

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—Clark L. Rorick, 34, was sentenced to 90 days in the House of Correction and Miss Mary Cruise, 29, was fined $25 today as the result of an automobile ride last night which ended suddenly when Rorick smashed into a safety island. He was charged with driving while intoxicated and Miss Cruise with disorderly conduct. The police said Miss Cruise told them she was private secretary to William J. Stratton, Secretary of State, and threatened to "get their jobs."

PAPERS MAILED

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson, of Illinois, telegraphed to the State Department today that he mailed last night papers necessary for the extradition of Samuel Insull, Sr., who is in Athens, Greece.

To Probe Elections

In Penna, Delaware

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—The House Campaign committee, headed by Representative Ragon, Arkansas Democrat, decided today to investigate last week's elections in Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The committee will start its hearings tomorrow in Philadelphia.

Philip Crook, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, was given four subpoenas to serve in Philadelphia this afternoon.

The subpoenas were for General Edward Martin, State Treasurer and chairman of the Republican State Committee; Blakely D. McCoughan, Treasurer of the Republican State Committee; James W. Hazlett, Philadelphia Republican City Committee chairman, and John J. McKinley, Jr., City Committee treasurer.

The committee will sit in Philadelphia tomorrow and Friday. The time for the Delaware investigation has not yet been fixed.

This committee is empowered to investigate only elections to the House of Representatives.

1,393 Eggs Laid By

Five Hens In Year

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—The Illinois trophy for the best pen of egg layers in the 1931-32 contests was today awarded a pen of five Rhode Island Red hens owned by the Mississippi Valley Farms of Brees in Clinton county.

E. G. Horner Chief State Poultryman announced. They produced 1,393 eggs during the year, which ended Oct. 31.

Two other Illinois teams were among the winners, a pen of white Plymouth Rocks owned by the Milway Hatchery of McNabb, placing fourth with 1,084 eggs and five Buff Orpingtons, owned by Carl Bosley of Tonica, taking fifth prize with 1,294.

Insull, Junior

TELLS OF BOOST

IN HIS SALARY

Got Raise Of $40,125 In 1930 He Tells Attorneys

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—Samuel Insull, Jr., admitted in Federal court today that he received a raise in salary of $40,125 in 1930 from his father's utilities system.

Insull's testimony was given at a bankruptcy hearing into two holding companies—Insull Utility Investments Inc., and Corporation Securities of Chicago. He was president of both concerns.

Attorneys for creditors of the companies brought out in questioning the younger Insull about his income that while his salary was being increased the value of Insull stocks was declining rapidly.

Young Insull said his salary in 1929 was $67,084.30 and that in 1930 it was increased to $106,249.99. The salary for both years, it was brought out, was for his services to all companies in the Insull system with which he was connected. He said he received no salary or other compensation as president of Insull Utility Investments.

Bankruptcy of the two holding companies has resulted in a loss of about $300,000 to investors.

Borrowed Excessively

Insull also admitted Insull Utility Investments borrowed in excess of the amount permitted under terms of which the company sold $60,000,000 in debentures to the public.

Under terms of the debenture sale, the company could not borrow in excess of 60 percent of the value of its assets.

"It occurred to me in September or October of 1931 that we could borrow no more under the terms of the debentures," Insull said.

The then agreed that an additional $500,000 subsequently was borrowed from the General Electric Company.

Young Insull was dismissed from the witness stand, subject to recall after testifying for an hour today. He spent five hours testifying yesterday. He often mentioned his father, now in Greece fighting extradition to Chicago on charges of embezzlement and larceny.

DEBTS PROBLEM

Senators Swanson, Virginia, and Fletcher, Florida, were two other Democrats joining in this view.

ROOSEVELT LEAVES BED

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 16—(AP)—With the time drawing near for his meeting with President Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt is recovering from a light case of influenza and hastening to put his official business in order before departing for his visit to the White House.

Planning to devote most of his working time between now and Saturday to the state budget, the President-elect avowedly is giving "no further consideration" at the moment to what will transpire at his conference with the nation's Chief Executive.

There were indications today that Mr. Roosevelt will suggest next Tuesday or Wednesday as the date for the meeting at which he has agreed to talk over informally and personally with Mr. Hoover the entire situation pertaining to war debt matters and other national affairs.

Dropped up in bed at his first press conference in five days, the New York Governor late yesterday revealed that the cold with which he went to bed last Friday developed into "a slight attack of the flu."

Today he was sufficiently recovered to leave his bedroom.

Iowa's Corn Crop

Is 540 Million Bu.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 16—(AP)—Iowa's 540 million bushels of corn is 40 per cent more than the crop of her nearest competitor in corn raising, Illinois, Charles D. Reed, meteorologist, reported today.

The chief of the weather and crop bureau here added that if the crop in this state could have been saved intact from the severe storm of last week, "there would have been 465 million more bushels of new corn in Iowa than the previous bumper crop of 1925."

This excess over the previous high yield is larger than the total corn crops in 33 other states, Reed Continued.

"However," he went on, "before husking can be called finished, the crop will have shrunk several bushels per acre from the great storm of Nov. 7-10 and others like it that may follow during the fall and winter."

Husking is now being resumed following the delay caused by the heavy rains in the Mississippi river counties, from six to ten inches of snow in central and western portions, and temperatures averaging 29.8 degrees, or 8.5 degrees below normal.

SOLVING THAT LIQUOR PROBLEM.

It begins to look like a safe bet that something more or less drastic is about to be done to the national prohibition law.

The incoming administration rode to power on a platform which flatly demanded repeal. Surveys show an overwhelming wet majority in the new House, and indicate a strong preponderance of wet sentiment in the new Senate. Nine more states have discarded their own enforcement acts.

The question at issue, then, seems to be, not whether revision is to be made, but what sort of revision we are going to get.

And as the time for such revision approaches there is danger that the nation as a whole will overlook two things: First, that the Eighteenth Amendment was passed largely because certain very real abuses which cried to heaven for correction existed under the old license system. Second, that the revival of wet sentiment has come about chiefly because equally real abuses, also crying for correction, arose under national prohibition.

It is of the profoundest importance that whatever solution is reached be of a kind that will apply some corrective to both classes of abuses.

No one who lived through the old, pre-prohibition days needs to be told that the shameless greed of the liquor interests in those days was a force that worked directly against the public interest.

Nor does anyone who can remember what has happened since 1920 need to be told that the bootlegging industry created an utterly intolerable situation.

Any change that fails to take both of these factors into full consideration will not last. The job of revision demands the utmost in the way of intelligence and fair-minded concern for the welfare of the nation.

LEARNING OUR LESSON.

During the first 10 months of 1932, approximately 23,000 Americans were killed by automobiles. This indicates a probable fatality list for the entire year of about 29,000, which will be nearly 15 per cent below the total for 1931.

Much of the reduction, of course, is due to the simple fact that there are fewer automobiles on the highways this year than last. But an analysis of the figures made by the Travelers Insurance Co. shows that the fatalities decreased even more than did car registrations or gasoline consumption; and to a certain extent, at least, we are justified in assuming that the long years of safety campaigning are beginning to bear fruit.

Having rejoiced over that, however, we can only admit that the toll is still shockingly high. We may be beginning to get some rudimentary ideas of safety on the highway, but we still have a long way to go.

MARINES AND POLITICS.

Although most of us overlooked it under the press of our own election, it is worth noting that the republic of Nicaragua has just held a presidential election also, and that the winning candidate was Dr. Juan Bautista Sacasa. The interesting thing about this is that American marines were sent to Nicaragua six years ago for the express purpose of keeping Dr. Sacasa from taking office. Just why our State Department wanted to keep him out was never quite clear, but the marines were sent in and Dr. Sacasa was kept out and a number of fine young men on both sides were shot to death.

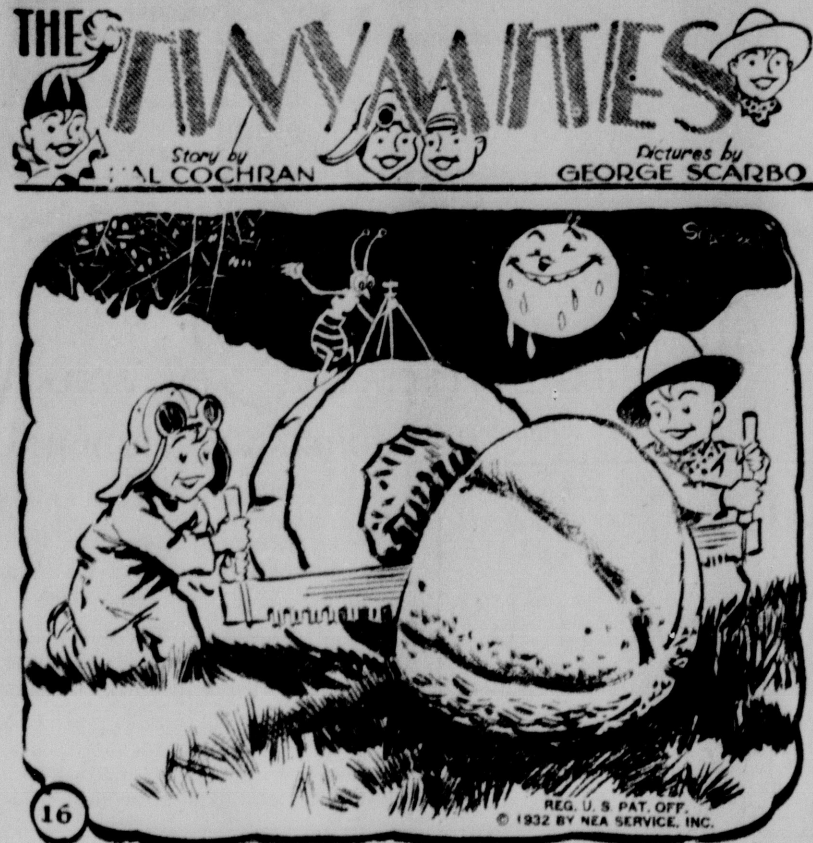

Now, in an election supervised by the marines, Dr. Sacasa is triumphantly elected; and if you can think of any reason on earth why our marines should stay there any longer you have a very agile and nimble mind indeed. If I'd known how much fuss was going to be raised over this, I'd got married this morning while I was at the clerk's office. All this fuss over an old duffer like me going to take out a permit! No, she's no spring chicken, either.—George H. Taylor, 85, interviewed when he married Miss Gertrude Manchester, 76, in New York City.

This problem of unrest is a world problem. It's now your problem as well as ours, and we must feed the hungry. It's labor that fears the Communists, not the capitalists. We think that the best way to defeat the Communists is to let them get it off their chests.—Lady Astor, on visit to U. S.

I have one difficulty in traveling, that is, I am constantly credited with being an Englishwoman. I don't mind it, as Englishwomen are very fine women.—Miss Katherine Mayo, American author.

It is clear, of course, that Japan would be forced to withdraw from the League, or any other body, were it to become clear that to continue therein would jeopardize Japan's vital interests and our country's program to maintain peace in the Far East.—Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese delegate to the League of Nations.

Keeping up with the Joneses is out of fashion, but it is just as bad to try to keep down the Joneses.—Loring A. Schuler, editor of Ladies' Home Journal.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Twymanites sliding shortly wore a path right through the hay. What's more, the path grew very smooth and they all had a lot of fun.

The old scarecrow laughed out in glee. "This really takes my breath," said he. "But I am pretty good, 'cause I have shown you how it's done."

"You're right," said Scouty. "Thank you, sir! I well recall how scared we were to try and slide down until we saw you sail down from the top."

"You were not hurt, so we slid, too. And then, the next thing that we knew we all were having heaps of fun and now we hate to stop."

"Look out!" cried Duncy. "Here I come! I'll show you that I'm not so dumb at turning flip-flops on this slide. It's easy as can be."

And then amidst some merry squeals he promptly turned head-over-heels. "I'm going to try it, too," said Windy. "It appeals to me."

It wasn't very long until the farmer said, "You've had your thrill upon that great big stack of hay. Now I have a surprise."

"Out in the field we all will go and there, my lady, I'm going to show you something that you all will like. 'Twill open up your eyes."

"Hurray! We'll have another treat. I hope it's something we can eat," cried Duncy. "I am hungry. Come, let's hurry right along."

Soon way out in the field they found a monstrous melon on the ground. The farmer said, "Well out it. I just hope you lads are strong."

He brought a big saw forth and then cried out, "Now get to work again. Please saw that melon through the middle. Then we'll have some lunch."

They sawed away and juice spilled out. And then the bunch heard Coppy shout, "Just think how good that's going to taste. This was a happy bunch."

(Scouty and Duncy pull a clever trick in the next story.)

When you buy at home you see what you buy and take it home with you. If not as represented, you get quick adjustment.

When you buy from a peddler or a catalogue you get, some day, what they send you—maybe you will like it and maybe you won't.

If you investigate you will find you can get more for your dollar at home than you can elsewhere.

Local merchants offer you better quality at better prices.

Merchandise bought in the home city not only represents "good buys" from the standpoint of value received, but there is still greater value in the fact that you have kept the money at home working for the home city.

JUST A CASUAL AFFAIR—BUT IT RUINED HIS LIFE

In "The Narrow Corner," Schermer Maugham takes a straight-away story of a somewhat stupid young man's entanglement with two women and gives it an exotic and romantic appeal by setting it in the faraway islands of the Malay peninsula.

In its essence, "The Narrow Corner" is simply the story of young Fred Blake, son of an Australian politician. Fred gets entangled at home with a married woman twice his age; a horrible creature who clings to him like grim death and who sacrifices her husband's life, her own reputation and Fred's future to her devouring love.

Breaking away, Fred wanders through the eastern islands; and there, slowly regaining his self-respect, he casually engages in an easy-come-easy-go affair—and brings down a calamity which completely wrecks his life.

Probably no one but Somerset Maugham could make this tale into a first-rate novel which is just what "The Narrow Corner" is. He does it partly by means of a brooding and thoughtful narrative style which is a delight on every page; and partly by presenting the whole story through the eyes of a roving doctor, who looks on all the vagaries of human life with a serene detachment.

The result is that "The Narrow Corner" is a rather remarkable book. It is Maugham at, or close to, his best.

Lengthens Sleep

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15—(AP)—The odd effects of a chemical which indicates that sleep is a hardening of proteins were reported to the National Academy of Sciences today by Wilbur D. Bancroft, Ph. D., of Cornell University.

The chemical is sodium rhodanate. With it Dr. Bancroft told his fellow academicians he has increased his own sleep from an average of four hours to seven.

Yet sodium rhodanate is an awakener and not a sleeping potion. It action, Dr. Bancroft said, demonstrates a theory of sleep which shows that form of temporary oblivion akin to, if not exactly the same thing as unconsciousness, anesthesia, or the stupor of narcotics and alcohol.

The "agglomeration" theory, Dr. Bancroft called it. In lay language the proteins of the centers of consciousness harden a little, like the white of a boiled egg.

Sodium rhodanate counteracts this hardening, but a small amount acts only on the nerves, without reaching the sleep centers. It soothes the nerves, so that they stop interfering. In larger quantities it reaches the sleep centers themselves, and "peptizes" them into wakefulness.

FINEST FARM ANIMALS TO BE SHOWN AT EXPO

Chicago's Annual Live-Stock Event Opens November 26th.

Chicago — Over 12,000 of the continent's finest farm animals, representing 35 different breeds, will be on view when the nation's premier agricultural show, the International Live Stock Exposition, opens its doors at the Chicago Stock Yards, November 26.

The show opens on the Saturday after Thanksgiving and will close the following Saturday, December 3. Chicago will be host during the Stock Show week to thousands from other states and foreign countries who are interested in the progress of agriculture as it is here so magnificently displayed.

Judges From 15 States. According to B. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the Exposition, the leading livestock authorities of fifteen states and two foreign countries will be called upon to judge these finest specimens of the livestock farmer's skill that will parade the huge arenas in review of the judges.

Livestock will be on view that have come from as far distant points as British Columbia, and Texas, California and Connecticut. Farm crops will be on exhibit from every state in the Union. Provinces of Canada and Australia. Despite the low price levels of farm and livestock products, the nation's breeders of purebred livestock and the country's producers of pure seeds and grain are continuing their work of improvement of animals and crops which will be exhibited and matched in the keenest of competition at Chicago's forthcoming livestock show in a larger number than ever.

Called "Supreme Court" Because the Exposition, since its inception in 1900, has occurred the same week every year, at the close of the agricultural fair season, it has come to be recognized as the final court in handing down national championships. Consequently, only the best is exhibited, it being the hope of every exhibitor to attain the prestige which goes with his farm, and his stock on any premiums won in the hundreds of classes and contests of this Supreme Court of American livestock shows.

Railroads will offer the lowest fares ever given for this event, and for those who drive, ample free parking space will be provided near the Exposition buildings at the entrance to the Chicago Stock Yards.

How Terrible RHEUMATISM May Be Curbed

Why Simple, Natural Treatment Quickly Ends Awful Painful Suffering.

No Drugs — Easy — Convenient. An amazing new type treatment for Rheumatism, Neuritis, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Nervousness or any similar disease that might be traced to excess acids, body poisons and a weakened nervous system is now being recommended by an eminent medical scientist. Many remarkable recoveries have been reported and, if you are an unfortunate sufferer from Rheumatism, Neuritis or Neuralgia, you owe it to yourself to make this simple easy 7-Day Test. It costs you nothing to try it if it should fail to bring decided results and it may show the way to save you a lifetime of pain, misery, expense and unhappiness. This treatment is known as SLEEPY SALTS. It comes to you direct from the bottlers of Sleepy Water, the original water from the natural springs of Hot Springs, Arkansas. While SLEEPY WATER has been prescribed by physicians for many years for less than 25 chronic ailments, it was only recently found that SLEEPY SALTS also worked untold benefits in the curbing of rheumatic pains. Now it is known that because SLEEPY SALTS is based on Sleepy Water, it contains the right combination of health minerals to ferret out, neutralize and eliminate the deadly blood-poisoning acids which many cathartics and other intestinal purifiers miss entirely. SLEEPY SALTS acts mysteriously, but with a soothing, relaxing effect that helps carry these poisons instantly.

FOR SALE AT FORD HOPKINS. You can see the first day how SLEEPY SALTS acts to bring welcome relief for Rheumatism, Neuritis and Neuralgia. You just go to Ford Hopkins Drug Store and ask for SLEEPY SALTS. It costs but 9c for a generous package enough for about three to four weeks. Take Sleepy Salts every morning and if, in 7 days, you do not agree it is helping you like nothing else, without drugs, bring back the unused SLEEPY SALTS and your full purchase price will be refunded without question. Remember, get SLEEPY SALTS at Ford Hopkins today.

WOMEN ENLIST WITH WAR-TIME SPIRIT IN RED CROSS DRIVE ON DISTRESS

Little Sarah Jo Thrush tries on a dress made from Red Cross cotton in a chapter production room, where Miss Jeanette Racosin is one of several hundred volunteers sewing garments for the needy. In the bins behind her are thousands of men's shirts and children's garments to be made up and given away. At right, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, secretary of the Red Cross, under whose leadership several hundred thousand women are making clothing for the unemployed.

HOW shall 500,000 bales of Farm Board cotton be converted into clothing for the unemployed and needy, was an urgent question confronting the American Red Cross when Congress voted the raw cotton for that purpose to the Red Cross in midsummer.

Congress also had laid $5,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat upon the Red Cross doorstep, beginning last March, and the great relief organization had conquered the task of putting flour and bread from this wheat into the homes of 3,500,000 of the nation's needy families. The wheat distribution continues and it is estimated that the free flour will not be exhausted until the late spring of 1933.

Cotton presented a complex problem, but the Red Cross swung a large staff of workers into the job.

Swine Promise Fine Outlook For Crop Of Soybeans

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 15—More than half of the 5 1/2 million bushels of soybeans which Illinois, the leading producer, turned out this year and which are finding a slow market even at low prices could be disposed of profitably if they were used to supplement the rations of the 1,000,000 head of breeding hogs in the state, according to Dr. W. E. Carroll, chief in swine husbandry at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

If thus used for breeding animals, the beans would in no way endanger the quality of pork produced and at the same time would save farmers the necessity of buying protein supplements, which usually are the most expensive part of the ration, Dr. Carroll explained. "Enough experimental work has now been done by the U. of I. College of Agriculture to prove that soybeans can, under average farm conditions, be safely used as a protein supplement for brood sows either during gestation or while they are suckling their litters. Pigs produced at this college by sows so fed have shown no tendency to produce carcasses, provided the pigs themselves are fed a suitable ration."

"Unfortunately, no way has yet been found to feed either whole or ground soybeans to any great extent to fattening hogs without producing soft pork, which is increasing at an objectionable rate to packers and the market in general. In fact, this institution has waged an active campaign for about seven years against the use of soybeans in the rations of fattening hogs."

"However, if soybeans were used only for all breeding swine, the total consumption would be a much larger proportion of the crop than is now fed to all hogs. Fed with pasture or legume hay, minerals and farm grains, soybeans make a safe and many times very economical protein supplement in the ration of brood sows."

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

MRS. BOOLE'S STORY
One of the leading feature articles in Collier's for Nov. 5 is an interview with Mrs. Ella Boole by Owen White on the prohibition question. The article is entitled "The Same Old Fight". Mrs. Boole, who is serving her eighth year as National President of the W. C. T. U., has been fighting liquor in America for nearly fifty years.

Her answer to the question of the interviewer, "Aren't you discouraged at the present outlook? Impressed that gentleman, and in it Mrs. Boole expressed the feeling of the great army of women she represents. "Why, no, certainly not," she answered. "Why should I be?" "Because," said the interviewer, "isn't it likely, now that both major parties have declared for it that the Eighteenth Amendment will be repealed?"

"It will not," she replied emphatically. "The 18th Amendment will never be taken from the Constitution." Your own wet leader, Chauncey Depew gave the reason in one word, "Women." That is the correct answer still. There are 500,000 active organized workers in the W. C. T. U. alone, and reinforced by the other noble women of this country, they will never allow a law to be wiped out which has done us and our homes so much good.

CONGRESS WILL VOTE ON SALES TAX AND LAGER

Revenues Have Failed To Meet Official Expectations

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The outgoing Congress apparently will have another opportunity to vote on both a manufacturers' sales tax and beer before it passes into history on March 4.

Congressional leaders close to the administration have indicated they will not be surprised if the Treasury recommends a sales levy in view of the mounting deficit and the failure of new taxes to produce expected revenue.

Also, a ballot on modification of the Volstead act to legalize beer for revenue purposes has been predicted by most of the leaders of both parties in view of the wet strength displayed in the general elections.

The present Congress rejected the sales tax and beer last spring, and the attitude on those issues of the nearly 200 "lame ducks" resulting from the primary and general elections still is unknown to the party leaders.

Wet organizations contend sufficient gains have been made in the present Congress since adjournment last July to make immediate modification of the Volstead Act possible. Dry groups hold the opposite view.

Rainey Doubtful
Prohibitionists in Congress, lead by Senator Borah of Idaho, are prepared to oppose vigorously any attempt to legalize beer. Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democratic floor leader, doubts that sufficient wet strength has been gained to overcome this opposition.

Rainey said yesterday that "this is a dry Congress." He predicted both beer and repeal of the eighteenth amendment would pass in the new Congress with ease, adding that a special session for that purpose should be called early after the inauguration of President-elect Roosevelt.

Already surveying tax possibilities Chairman Collier of the House Ways and Means Committee, that drafts tax legislation, said the revenue bill enacted last spring "has fallen far short" of the $1,118,500,000 yield estimated by Secretary Mills for this fiscal year to meet an anticipated deficit of $1,241,000,000.

Returns Low
The deficit for the first four months of the fiscal year was placed by the Treasury around $625,000,000. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, administration spokesman, has predicted first returns from the increased income taxes next March 15 "will be surprisingly low."

Chairman Mead of the House Post Office committee said the increased postage rates not only will fail to produce the $160,000,000 estimated by the Treasury, but have actually reduced the volume of mail to such an extent the total return will be less than at the lower postage rate.

The one cent federal gasoline tax will expire June 30 unless Congress acts. Collier said that it was bearing the best returns of all the new miscellaneous taxes and probably would be continued.

POET'S CORNER

RECALL
Blue-eyed Summer, wherefore idly straying,
Dost leave thy lonely children here to die?
Whilst thou upon some southern side delaying,
Heed not how swift the sunny hours go by.

The lovely blossoms thou dost leave at parting,
Perfumed with thy kisses, perfumed with thy breath,
Tired of long vigils, hopeless of thy coming,
Droop low their heads, and sweetly welcome death.

O faithless other of those pure, frail children?
Sister of light? Child of perfume and song?
Mild the ruins of thy vast dominion,
I mourn, I weep! Oh, whither art thou gone?

Then the hours are empty of fun
Then disappointments find entrance
To stand on the mat we flawlessly spun.

an it be you have not forgotten how happy we were in yesteryears memories of a party and a dance thinking of silly words—then tears.

am glad now they were foolish words
I can laugh and cry with
Dear
lad we parted in such a funny lad I found you even if clouds appear.

ometime if we should meet again am sure I could smile with you perhaps, we could walk along, and in hand like we used to do.

New Memorial to Unknown Soldier

America again has honored its Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery. A white marble tomb has been superimposed over the slightly elevated temporary granite tomb where the Unknown Soldier was buried with fitting honors in 1921. The new tomb is the work of Thomas Hudson Jones, sculptor and Lorimer Rich, architect, both ex-service men, and was completed for dedication Armistice Day. It is 11 feet high and approximately nine feet at the base. The panel on the end facing Potomac river depicts three figures symbolizing Valor, Victory and Courage. On the end facing the amphitheater is the inscription "Here lies in honored glory an American soldier known but to God." Above is a view from the amphitheater looking toward the Potomac with the new tomb in the foreground. Below is the view looking toward the amphitheater from the fountain plaza.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington.—Bertrand Snell of New York, Republican leader of the House, must look with something akin to dismay at the job that faces him in the 73rd Congress.

The Democratic sweep of November 8th not only left gaping holes in his ranks on the left side of the political aisle, but it also tore from his side his most powerful and trusted lieutenants.

First of all, Earl Michener of Michigan will be lost to him. The short, curly-haired Michener has been Snell's right-hand man. He, perhaps more than any other Republican, is closest to the floor leader in the actual direction of G. O. P. forces in the House.

PURNELL GONE, TOO
Also snatched from his side is another stalwart, Fred Purnell of Indiana. Purnell shared with Michener the confidence of the leader. In the rough and tumble of debate Snell invariably had one on his right and the other on his left.

That veteran of 18 years in the House, Will Wood of Indiana, former chairman of the powerful appropriations committee, passes from the scene, too.

Snell always summoned the gray-haired, relentless Wood to the quarterdeck when the battle shifted to the fiscal policies of the government. Wood was ready at all times for the call.

NEW WHIP NEEDED
Snell in the next Congress must even find him a new whip. The Democratic sweep carried with it Carl Bachmann of West Virginia, who holds that job.

He must also get along without the counsel of Col. Johnny Tilton of Connecticut, formerly Republican leader of the House, and Willis Hawley of Oregon, his tax and tariff expert. Tilton resigned and Hawley went down to defeat in the primaries.

Just whom he will select to carry on in the places of these departed ones, only time will tell. He still will have a number to choose from.

Fred Britten of Illinois is a good fighter. He can depend on the Bacharach of New Jersey. James M. Beck of Pennsylvania, one of the most scholarly men in the House, also will be available.

SIMPLICITY RETURNS IN HAT STYLES

Jean Patou Applauds as Frost Nips the Eccentric Fantasies of a Year Ago

There's an entirely new feeling in winter hats, as Jean Patou shows in these. (Left) Though there is still a flare to this jaunty cocked hat of a few months ago, it does not fit new fashions. (Center) This stitched felt illustrates the very latest hat angle. (Right) This little model shows that hats no longer perch on one ear. This taupe-beige with its brown trim, has the outline of a distinctive new movement.

By JEAN PATOU

Paris, Nov. 15.—The important change which has just been started in dress styles naturally resulted in an equally important change in hats. We have seen something which had not taken place for some years—a distinct parallelism in the line of dresses and hats.

The altogether too simple hat styles of past seasons, to which changes without any great purpose were brought periodically, were responsible last season for somewhat extravagant fantasies. At that time too, hats were completely independent of dress lines and this consequently resulted in ensembles which, to say the least, were certainly not in harmony.

Eccentricity Loses Out
The novel feature in hats this fall is characterized by a complete absence of any eccentric element and a return to simplicity. This simplicity, synonymous of good taste, does not by any means infer that the new hats risk either being banal or lacking in originality. In every category a fantasy of good taste is given a free rein.

Last year's movement in hat styles (I am thinking of the rather exaggerated fantasies we saw then) which at the time caused certain commotion, was at any rate perfectly justified although I never quite approved of many of the extravagant results.

The totally new style trend of this season no longer allows the hat, which may be considered an important accessory, but only an accessory all the same, that liberty of conception which it had assumed during the momentary inactions in fashions generally. of them and them anthem.

In any case, all my new creations are based on constant search of equilibrium by the study of lines, volumes, and proportions, all of which would risk being totally upset by completing them with a hat which would not have been studied to harmonize with the general ensemble.

As hat styles are far more capricious and evolve with much greater rapidity than dress styles we have only to look back a few months on hats then being created to ascertain the very rapid change brought in the general lines. This change has gradually conferred upon them a less "cavalier" air in favor of something essentially distinguished and more "ladylike." Yet the new hats have not been shorn of the fantasy indispensable to this important accessory.

Latest Styles Smarter
Another point which the observant will not have failed to note is that very progressively and almost imperceptibly all hats are resuming a sense of equilibrium and while the less recent creations may still possess a certain flare, it is indisputable that the latest styles are far smarter. Personally I prefer them by a long way.

Hat mediums have changed too. Plain and simple felts are replaced by the same felts perhaps but embellished by original stitchings and trimmings. The vogue for velvet hats has brought in its wake a revival of all the fine handwork for which the Parisian modiste is noted the world over.

Milk Distribution Requires Closest Check In 20 Years

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 15.—Not for 20 years has the milk industry needed closer supervision than it does now in order that the health and welfare of consumers may be safeguarded, it is declared by Dr. H. A. Ruehe, head of the dairy department, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

During the past two years low prices of farm commodities have put hundreds of small dealers into the business of distributing milk, he exclaimed. In most instances these new dealers have used low prices as an entering wedge, with the result that milk in Illinois is now being sold at prices ranging from 5 to 12 cents a quart. This is a corresponding range in quality and a consequent danger that the health of consumers will be jeopardized, he said.

"Many of these low price dealers are producing all the milk they sell, whereas others may be buying from their neighbors or from whomsoever they can get milk at a low enough price. Many of these dealers are absolutely untrained as dairymen, they have little or no equipment for determining the quality of milk or for properly processing it. Under such conditions the consumer is quite likely to get an inferior product."

"In one instance a farmer's milk was rejected at a first class milk plant because it was of such poor quality that it was not even worth pasteurizing. He immediately started retailing raw milk. He sold it at two cents less a quart than the prevailing price, and some consumers thought they were getting a bargain. They were merely getting a non-standard, unsafe product."

"In several localities farmers have banded together to supervise the quality of milk going into their market. They are trying to produce a superior product, and it is up to consumers to back them up."

A large attendance from this vicinity attended the bazaar and chicken supper Wednesday night at the church in Lee Center.

Order Dissolved
Dover, Del., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Dissolving an order that restrained Aviation Corporation, Inc. from purchasing certain assets of North American Aviation Inc., Chancellor J. O. Wolcott has declared that Aviation Corporation directors should have an opportunity either to approve or disapprove the purchase contract.

The contract calling for the buying of North American assets in exchange for 1,997,776 shares of Aviation Corp. stock, must be acted upon by stockholders as well as directors, the court pointed out.

The restraining order had been issued last week following the filing of a petition by the Cord Corporation, holder of 750,000 shares of Aviation Corp. stock, contending that the North American assets were under consideration were worth "less than half the value of the stock supposed to be issued for payment."

Counsel agreed yesterday that today's scheduled meeting of directors in New York for consideration of the contract should be postponed for a week to give E. L. Cord, President of the Cord Corporation, time to come east and attend the session.

Cut Milk Prices
(Telegraph Special Service)
Rockford, Ill., Nov. 15.—The lowest price for milk since 1910 was decided upon at a meeting of dairyman supplying Rockford's milk supply at noon today when the price of milk in quarts was reduced from nine to six cents, and pints from six to four cents, the new schedule of prices becoming effective tomorrow. The action was taken, it was said, to bolster the declining consumption and was expected to double the present supply in one month's time. All of the local dairies joined in the price reduction.

The daily milk consumption in Rockford is estimated at 25,000 quarts and the new price scale was expected to save milk consumers approximately $750 daily. Dairymen announced that the reduced price would in no wise decrease the quality of milk which would continue to be passed upon by the local health department as in the past.

Mar. 3—Rockville here (Con.)
All doubleheaders.
State district tournament.
DeKalb Holiday tournament—tentative.

Above is the schedule for basketball entertainment by the local high school during the 1932-33 season. Two games before Christmas and a probable entry in the DeKalb holiday tourney will offer fans an early indication as to the hopes for the first successful basketball season in years at the Dixon high school. Topping the 1932-33 lineup is the return to the Dixon-Polo series, the last of which was played in 1927, and the appearance of Mendota against Dixon, which terminated in 1929. The ten conference games, four non-conference engagements and two tourneys form the most extensive cage array in four years.

Coach L. E. Sharpe, taking over the reins at Dixon high in 1929 after turning out some great fives at Morrison, has "enjoyed" three dreary seasons here. However, fans backed the squads in those lean days and with expectations high they may be compensated with a winner this winter. After viewing the prospects in action for a week Coach Sharpe performed the annual slicing, retaining twenty-nine of the forty-six members. The head cage mentor went to work Monday, replacing Athletic Director A. C. Bowers. Last evening, speaking of the outlook gained from the advance group, he expressed his opinion that the prospects for a successful quintet for the coming season are the best in his regime at the local school. If the law of averages is still in practice the above optimistic prediction will be borne out starting Dec. 16.

At present Kenny Hasselberg is the only letterman in uniform. The other vets of Capt. Bales' team of '31-'32 are Cook, Bellows, Potts, Henry, Fordham, Strong, of the team the year before, also is back. From the lightweight ranks are Underwood, E. Flanningham, W. Flanningham, Salzman, Nicolosi, Beech and Kennedy.

The boys now participating are Hasselberg, E. Flanningham, W. Flanningham, Salzman, Nicolosi, R. Krug, W. Barthelme, R. Boos, H. Brown, George, Arthur and Louis Carlson, G. Curtis, D. Fane, G. Frazee, E. Grove, A. Kline, Marshall, L. Moore, F. Padgett, Ramsey, Reynolds, L. Schumm, E. Tappanier, R. Evans, D. Durkes, E. Nicholas, C. Zalecki, J. Burke.

These boys together with those to report after Thanksgiving make up an excellent reason for Coach Sharpe's viewpoint.

After the regular squad begins its practice the "Nut League," an intramural round-robin organization, will operate. This is for the aspirants whose ability fail to keep them with the varsity or second team and other students who desire to play. Two games a week, under supervision of A. C. Bowers, are continued throughout the winter in competition for the Aschenbrenner trophy.

One Year Ago Today—Bill Tilden 2nd, arrived from his European tour in which he lost only one match out of 12 he played in various foreign cities.

Five Years Ago Today—Alva Bradley president of the Cleveland Indians, announced he had completed details for the Indians to play ball in Cleveland's new lakefront stadium. The stadium's capacity was announced at 90,000.

Ten Years Ago Today—Pat Moran resigned as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Pancho Villa Mexican holder of the American flyweight title, beat Abe Goldstein Harlem bantamweight, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Levinisky-Carnera Bout Is Assured

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—King Levinisky and Prima Carnera will meet in a ten round match of fistuffs at the Chicago Stadium November 30, after all.

The huge Italian's management accepted several days ago, but Mrs. Lena Levy, Levinisky's sister and manager, balked at terms until last night. The meeting will be a close second, Carnera having won a close decision a year ago.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

When it was announced that Donnie Bush had sold himself "down the river" from Minneapolis to Cincinnati for a one-year term as manager, the news dispatches invariably referred to the team as "the lowly Reds" and went even so far as to call Cincinnati a "graveyard of managers."

Looking back over the tragic years of Cincinnati baseball, those terms seem right in more ways than one. The Reds have often been colorful. By that I mean there has nearly always been a "hot" baseball story in Cincinnati. Some of the worst of the Red teams since 1900 have been so bad they were funny. And the best teams fought to a goal that inevitably proved tragedy.

COMING OF MATTY— Since 1900, which year may be said to have marked the beginning of modern big league baseball, the Reds have finished in the cellar five times.

They won one pennant, and one world championship in all those years, and that was in 1919—and an anti-climax.

The Reds have won the title of "lowly," yet more often than not in the years since 1900 they have been in the thick of the fighting, especially in the golden decade of Cincinnati baseball that began with the coming of Christy Mathewson in 1916.

Buck Herzog, was a great ball player, but a failure as a manager. Shortly after midseason in 1916 he went to the Giants in a deal whereby Big Six became the Reds' manager.

Matty took an eighth place ball club, developed its pitching (remember Fred Toney?) brought the team into the first division the following year and Cincinnati went wild with baseball enthusiasm.

Matty did not remain to see his hopes of 1917 realized. Illness took him away from the team in midseason of 1918, and Heinie Groh, named acting manager.

Under Groh the boys battled their way into third place in 1918.

WIN FOR PAT— Mathewson went to Europe in search of health. Pat Moran was named manager for the following year, the year in which the Reds were to win their only flag and a world championship that was to be clouded by White Sox disgrace.

Memories of Cincinnati bring back Jim Thorpe and how his bat beat the Giants out of three important games the year after McGraw sent him down the river.

Garry Herrman, a Cincinnati printer boy, who was to come up with the Reds to the height of baseball affluence and power—and to end his days in obscurity, living on a pension awarded by his printer's union.

MORAN'S DEATH— Yes, and Pat Moran's keen disappointments in 1922 and 1923, when the Reds ran a bang-up second to the Giants.... and his death in spring training camp in 1924—and the struggles of Jack Hendricks through the following five years—ending Hendricks' dismissal when the team drifted back into seventh place in 1929.

Sidney Weil, coming along with seeds of money.... and ready to pour it into the Reds to make them a pennant winner again....

Well dropping a terrific pile of money in this bank crash and that—but game to the core, and ready to stake his last shirt on the Reds.

And, oh, yes, Weil splitting his pants last spring while umpiring a game in the spring training camp at Tampa—and your correspondents wondering where the good Mr. Weil was going to get another pair!

ILLINOIS-OHIO GAME MAY PROVE TO BE SURPRISE

Unexpected Has Been the Rule Between These Two Big Ten Foes

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—Illinois and Ohio State will renew for the twenty-first time Saturday a Big Ten football rivalry in which surprise decisions have been the rule rather than the exception.

Since 1916 when Ohio's immortal Chic Harley broke loose in the last period for a touchdown, changed his shoe and kicked the point for a 7 to 6 victory over a favored Illinois eleven, the favorites have had tough sledding. Ohio was the choice in 1919, but a fourth quarter field goal by Bob Fletcher gave Illinois a 9 to 7 decision.

The Buckeyes again were favored in 1920, and managed to win, but only when a forward pass was completed as the pistol ended the game. Illinois had not won a Big Ten game in 1921 and went to Columbus with little expectation of taking the undefeated Buckeyes.

The upset was forthcoming, however, the Illini winning, 7 to 0, to bounce Ohio out of a tie with Iowa for the championship.

This has been going on almost every season since, with Illinois just missing victory over a greatly superior Ohio aggregation, when a blocked kick was turned into a safety instead of a touchdown, in 1930. The Buckeyes made good as favorites last year, rolling up a 40 to 0 decision.

May Be Supreme Year Ohio had high hopes at the start of this season, but failed to get going until a tie with Pittsburgh, ever the varsity team falls down on a football assignment, such as happened at Pittsburgh recently. It may be that Notre Dame, where it should abound like rice in China, needs a gag-man to keep the boys in something similar to the humor that Rockne always managed to preserve.

There is a very good gag-man up at East Lansing, Mich., coaching a very respectable football team known as Michigan State. This is no one else but "Sleepy Jim" Crowley, one of the "Four Horsemen," and the man of whom Rockne once said, "He always looks as if he's either going to or getting out of bed."

He is the man of whom Rockne also said "His style of thought and good-humored balance of character was of the sterling stuff that wears better in adversity than in success." So perhaps Crowley is not only a gag-man but a character builder, as well.

NOWHERE, BUT TO BED— Many of Crowley's gags have become legendary. There was the game, for instance, when Northwestern gave the Four Horsemen a very bad day. The boys were a bit stale and were up against an inspired team. Play after play was stopped. It was only after a nightmarish battle that the Horsemen managed to win.

That night on the train, a tipsy agent could not find his ticket. When the conductor asked him: "Where are you going, New York, Toledo or Cleveland?" he replied "I don't know—I guess I'm not going anywhere."

Whereupon Crowley turned to his teammates and remarked, "He must be one of the Four Horsemen."

Crowley could take it, in his football days. There was the Princeton game in which he once had to punt after Layden was injured. Crowley had a habit of kicking a step or two before kicking. The kick was blocked and resulted in a safety for Princeton. After the game, the teammate kidded him about his kicking.

"Yeah," replied Crowley, "I'm a triple-threat man—trip, stumble and fumble."

GETTING GARBISCH'S GOAT— It was Crowley who thought of a neat way to irritate Garbisch the famous West Point star, in the Army game of that year. When-ever one of the Horsemen would manage to smear Garbisch, Crowley would turn to Don Miller in surprise and say "You don't mean to tell me that's the great Garbisch?"

To which Miller's carefully prepared reply would be "If the number is correct, that must be the great Mr. Garbisch himself."

Rockne called Crowley the "nerviest back I've known," which seems to this writer to indicate that he held a pretty high opinion of the young man, in view of the nifty backs I've seen wearing a Rambler uniform.

"Also," said Rock, "since I am using superlatives where they belong, he was the greatest inter-fere for his weight I have ever seen, and a particularly effective ball carrier on the critical third down. He would throw himself anywhere."

THE LAUGH ON ROCK— But, at that, Rockne once good-humoredly kidded Crowley on his courage. It was when the coach was criticizing the play of the regulars and Crowley was still a scrub.

"Why, that red-headed kid over there could run right through you all," said Rock, pointing to the 155 pound Crowley.

To which Crowley replied, affecting a soprano voice: "I didn't say that now, fellows."

Rockne yelled over to Crowley with this: "You don't mean to say you haven't got the courage!"

And Crowley, in the same quavering falsetto, replied: "But coach I've got responsibilities at home, and my life insurance has lapsed."

conqueror of Notre Dame, set the Buckeyes right. The game between western and Pennsylvania sound beatings and have displayed enough to make them the choice Saturday. Little was expected of Illinois, but Bob Zupke finally got them organized for victories over Chicago and Indiana and a big scare for Wisconsin.

Figuring this for a surprise year, Illinois' warriors believe they have a swell chance of tripping the Buckeyes.

Hothouse football was plentiful all over the conference yesterday. Snow, rain, cold or all three drove all but Purdue, Ohio and Iowa indoors. Purdue and Iowa worked out side despite snow and freezing weather. Anticipating had going overland Saturday, most of the coaches devoted their attention to forward pass defense and offense.

Michigan was given other day on "new and unorthodox" plays to be used against Minnesota in the Wolverines' final bid for the championship. Minnesota also worked on new plays, but was handicapped by the absence of several regulars who had not yet recovered from battering suffered in the Wisconsin game.

Purdue worked in a snowstorm stressing passes, while Iowa drilled on a frozen field against Northwestern passes.

I. H. C. HEAD RESTS Baltimore, Nov. 15—(AP)—Harold Fowler McCormick, head of the International Harvester Company and former husband of Edith Rockefeller and later of Ganna Walska, was in John Hopkins hospital here today "just to rest up for a few days."

The Chicagoan is under care of Dr. Hugh H. Young, and said he "came here alone yesterday from New York," and that "there is nothing wrong."

FOUR CHAMPIONS OF LAST SEASON JOIN ALSO-RANS

Football Fates Have Been Unkind To Several Favorites

With the football season now approaching the climatic stage, four of last year's sectional title-holders already have been beaten off and two others which shared the 1931 championship in their own ball-wickets also have been eliminated.

Tulane was the ruler of the Southern Conference last season but the Green Wave has dropped out of the championship picture this year. Southern Methodist of the Southwest Conference, Drake of the Missouri Valley group, and Chattanooga of the Southern Intercollegiate A. A. are other 1931 champions who have definitely been disposed of.

The Bucknell Bisons, who, with Pittsburgh, hung up the best record in the east in 1931, have faded right out of contention, and Northwestern, co-champion with Michigan and Purdue of the Big Ten a year ago, among the also-rans. So too is Purdue unless Minnesota can overturn the dope this week and beat undefeated Michigan.

Three Favorites Remain However successful in dislodging favorites the football fates have been in these instances, they still have failed to disturb such stalwarts as Southern California, in the Pacific Coast Conference, Utah in the Rocky Mountain, and Nebraska in the Big Six.

All three of these still have at least one more conference hurdle to overcome but all are favored to win and retain the laurels they captured in 1932. Southern California may have to share the coast-crown with the University of California at Los Angeles, the Trojans, in all probability, will be regarded as the real champions.

The following table of 1931 champions and the 1932 leaders on the basis of results so far will show how the tide of fortune has turned: District 1931 champion leader

PUNTS AND PASSES By The Associated Press

Milwaukee, Wis.—William Pace of Omaha lent one of Marquette's outstanding players but no one can claim he is below the average. Pace is 20 years old, five feet eleven tall and weighs 177 pounds. And the measurements of the 49 members of the varsity squad average up exactly to those figures.

Hanover, N. J.—To Philip J. Glazer of Memphis, Tenn., goes the honor of being the first southern-er ever to captain a Dartmouth football team. Glazer, who plays tackle, was elected yesterday to guide the 1933 eleven.

Detroit—The University of Detroit boasts a real all-around football player in Harvey Wrathell. Last year he was used at end, tackle and center. He started this season at the pivot post but later was shifted to guard. And he played in the backfield in high school.

Minneapolis—Minnesota has just joined the long list of colleges which have decided to cut back on football tickets. Seats in the curved end of the stadium for the Michigan game will be sold at $1.65 instead of $2.75. It was announced yesterday. It is the first time prices have been slashed for a Big Ten game since the stadium was built in 1924.

Columbus, Ohio—After relying on passes for most of its gains through the season, Ohio State has discovered a back who can make a real success of line plunging. Wetzel gained so consistently through the Penn line last week that the Buckeyes are expected to use more running plays than usual against Illinois Saturday.

Roads Fight Waterway Washington, Nov. 15—(AP)—Representatives of railroad interests today re-emphasized before a Senate sub-committee opposition to the St. Lawrence waterways treaty between the United States and Canada.

Fred N. Oliver, General Counsel of the Security Owners Association, composed of owners of railroad securities, said the project would further endanger investments in American railroads "already threatened by adverse conditions."

A Foreign Relations sub-committee, headed by Senator Borah, (R. Idaho), began hearings on the St. Lawrence pact yesterday.

Oliver testified after Alfred P. Thom, General Counsel of the Railway Executives Association, who presented the objections of the railroads themselves against the treaty.

Following arguments used by Thom, Oliver said "the added facilities proposed are wholly unnecessary and even wasteful from a public point of view and no public good will be derived therefrom."

CHICAGO—A policeman and two other persons were slugged and trussed up by two men who robbed the St. Wenceslaus Building & Loan Association of $1,500.

GUN-TOTING BY LAW ABIDING IS GODDARD'S PLAN

Head of Crime Detection Laboratory Advises Action

New Orleans, La., Nov. 16—(AP)—Gun toting by the law abiding is urged by Col. Calvin Goddard, director of the scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern University as a crime deterrent.

"Our laws against permitting self-respecting adults to carry guns are one reason for our terrific crime wave," he told the International Association for Identification in convention here yesterday. "The crook who has no respect for law carries a gun. The decent man who respects the law carries none and his life and property are at the mercy of the thug."

Colonel Goddard also described the use of the "lie detector" in criminal work and said that since its use in Chicago not one person it has found guilty has later been proved innocent through its use has later been proved guilty.

The detector he explained, registers uncontrollable human reactions such as blood pressure, rate of heart beat and rate of breathing, showing reactions to fear. The innocent, he said, often give fear reactions to every question no matter how extraneous, while the guilty usually react only to those questions concerning their guilty knowledge.

The major value of the lie detector, he said, is that it produces confessions, since criminals fear detection in case they fail to tell the truth.

FINANCIAL WORLD STIRRED BY CORD AND HIS BATTLES

Young Giant Of Aviation Industry Engaged In Big Fight

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—Aviation's youngest giant is still trying to find enough time to wind up a fishing trip started almost 20 years ago.

E. L. Cord decided to take a vacation at 20. He and a friend started on a fishing trip which was never finished, as Cord was diverted by a business opportunity. It and succeeding ones have fully occupied his time since and the fishing trip remains unfinished.

Two years ago, Cord was known as a successful young automobile manufacturer with a flair for aviation. Six years before that, he was merely an unknown young automobile salesman.

Today, Cord is drafting final plans for the biggest fight of his career—control of the Aviation Corporation, huge holding company owning the majority of stock in several of the biggest air lines in the United States.

Battle Of Proxies The Cord Corporation, which he heads, owns 800,000 of the 3,187,386 shares of Aviation Corporation stock outstanding. A battle for proxies is now being waged between Cord and the management. Cord objects to the management's plan to purchase a rival company, North American Aviation, Inc., and claims too much is being offered for the stock.

The battle will be fought out at a directors' meeting in New York, Tuesday, November 22.

Cord entered the Aviation Corporation picture when that company purchased the Century Air Lines, owned and operated by Cord, and he took stock in the bigger company as payment.

Born in 1894, the son of a Missouri grocer, Cord went to California with his family at an early age. While still in high school he engaged in buying second hand cars of a popular make which he overhauled, fitted out with racing bodies and sold to young bloods.

Started Auto Laundry Later he opened and operated one of the first automobile laundries.

When about 20, he thought a vacation was in order. He and a friend started for the mountains on horses. On the way they started to pass a wrecked truck.

Cord stopped and completed a deal for the truck and cargo. He ran this truck for a time, hauling supplies in and out of Death Valley.

At 25 he came to Chicago and obtained a job selling automobiles for a little known company. He had a drawing account of $35 a week.

His aggressiveness carried his agency to prominence and Cord became a distributor.

In 1924, he took charge of the Auburn Automobile Company's plant at Auburn, Ind. The company's consolidated balance sheet as of August 31, 1932, showed current assets of $11,855,891 with liabilities of $597,834.

WALL STREET STIRRED New York, Nov. 16—(AP)—Battles for control of corporations, from the famous Harriman-Hill contest for the Northern Pacific on down, have never failed to stir Wall Street to excitement.

Right now, the effort of E. L. Cord, spectacular "youngster" among the automobile manufacturers, to seize control of Aviation Corp., from a group backed by such old Wall Street banking houses as Brown Bros., Harriman & Co., and Lehman Bros., is engaging the Wall Street spotlight.

This fight appears to be developing into the bitterest struggle for stockholders proxies since A. P. Giannini, California banker, arose from retirement last year to snatch control of Transamerica Corp., from an eastern group headed by Elisha Walker, veteran investment banker.

It is the first major struggle in the aviation industry since 1930, when United Aircraft and Transport Corp. acquired control of National Air Transport, Inc., over the intense opposition of C. M. Keys and the Curtiss-Wright Corp., interests.

While Cord is only 38 years old, and has never been closely identified with Wall Street—he was laying the basis of his fortune selling automobiles in Chicago only a few years ago—he has the backing of a white-haired chieftain of large-scale finance, Frank A. Vanderlip, former President of the National City Bank. He has also the support of two prominent Stock Exchange houses, E. F. Hutton & Co. and E. A. Pierce & Co.

While on a smaller scale, the Cord controversy has some parallels to the struggle in 1930 of Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland capitalist, to block the proposed acquisition of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., by the Bethlehem Steel Corp. Eaton, the largest individual stockholder in Youngstown, lost his proxy battle, but blocked the deal in the courts.

TRIAL POSTPONED Wilmington, Del. Nov. 15—(AP)—Because negotiations are under way to bring about a settlement, the trial of the government anti-trust suit against Radio Corporation and others today was postponed until next Monday by the United States District court for Delaware.

PLAN S. A. LINE Berlin—It is thought that test flights on the proposed Berlin-Rio de Janeiro airline will be started early next year. Four large flying boats are being built in French factories in preparation for this trans-Atlantic service which will stop at Paris, Rabat, Cape Juby, Port Etienne, Dakar and route across the Atlantic to South America.

Several speakers expressed alarm at the extent of government competition with private business.

PAYROLLS AND EMPLOYMENT IN STATE INCREASE

October Report Shows an Improvement In The Larger Cities

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—For the third consecutive month, industrial establishments in Illinois reported increased employment and payrolls during October.

Gains from September to October were 1.2 per cent in number of workers and 1.3 per cent in payrolls.

Manufacturing industries did record a drop of two-tenths of one per cent in number of wage earners but wage payments advanced eight-tenths of one per cent, and non-manufacturing industries brought up the general average with increases of 3.5 per cent in workers and 1.9 in wages.

The usual seasonal increase from September to October is 0.7 per cent in employment and 3.1 in wages. Current payroll figures, the Illinois Department of Labor said, have been affected adversely by continued lowering of wage rates. 36 establishments putting into effect cuts of 2 to 25 per cent—typical cuts being ten and twenty per cent. Eleven of these 36 were coal mines which resumed work under the new contract at a lower pay level. The various reductions, however, touched only 5,446 wage earners or two per cent of the total number working. In the companies contributing to the survey.

These groups increased both employment and payrolls: wood products, oils, chemicals, paints, printing and paper goods, textiles. These decreased employment, but advanced payrolls: metals, machinery and conveyances

KELLY ADVISED PACKERS TO USE NEWSPAPER ADS

President Of Great Store Calls Press The Best Medium

High quality newspaper advertising, as a means of increasing sales and converting losses in the packing industry to profits was suggested to the Institute of American Meat Packers by D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair. The packers opened their 27th annual convention, with almost 1,000 in attendance, at the Drake hotel.

"As one who has spent almost his entire life in the field of retail merchandising," said Mr. Kelly, "I wish to express to you gentlemen the hope that the tremendous influence wielded by the press over the general public might be used to give the American nation a better understanding and greater appreciation of the packing industry and the importance of the role it plays in everyday life."

Public Watches Ads
"Newspapers have helped you through their cooking schools. Is it not time to help yourselves by appropriating more money for advertising? The public has been educated to look for an invitation in the form of an advertisement before it feels the urge to buy."

In discussing the quality of advertising, Mr. Kelly said that recent experiences indicated as never before the need for newspaper advertising of the highest type.

"Many of us believe," he said, "that the newspapers are the most satisfactory media for retail merchants and that if the wares advertised are worthy the response will be satisfactory."

Newspapers Progress
"The feeling seems to prevail that if you use one paper, you must use all. Railroads and packers have been supervised by the government to a greater extent than any other industries. For that reason the day is past when you need fear the attack of newspapers because of your not using their advertising columns."

Stores Depend on Ads
Mr. Kelly told the packers that the department stores, considered one of the major industries of the country and one that spends more money for newspaper advertising than any other, could never have built up their sales volume without such advertising.

"You have done more or less advertising of fresh meats," said the State street merchant, "but the slogan, 'Use Less Meat,' has gone, I might say, almost unchallenged by you. Especially is this true in the case of beef. The average man or woman pays more attention to diet today in an effort to retain or regain a slyph-like figure. I believe I am a living example of the fact that meat does not necessarily produce fat, for I have eaten everything I wanted all my life and I still weigh 152 pounds."

Daily Health Talk

NEPHRITIS—II

In nephritis due to a breakdown in the filtering mechanism of the kidneys, the amount of albumin present in the urines, the variety and number of cases found, indicate roughly how much damage is being done.

Because of the individual's excess of kidney substance over his requirements, it is possible for the elimination of soluble body wastes to go on effectively even when the individual suffers for a time and to an extent from a nephritis involving the filtering mechanism.

Ultimately, however, if the condition remains unabated, so large a portion of the kidney is destroyed that health is injured and death may ensue.

In another type of nephritis we find the circulatory portion, rather than the filtering portion of the kidneys involved. In order that the kidneys filters might abstract waste products, blood in effective quantities must be brought to them.

Introducing Next President Of United States

On His Campaign)

Albany, N. Y. (AP)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt has many interests but few hobbies. He is a stamp collector of renown and his collection of books on the navies of the world is notable.

The last few years have been such busy ones that Mr. Roosevelt has not been able to devote much time to the stamps. Occasionally, however, he has an hour open when he goes over his stamp books. The President-elect carries on a correspondence with stamp collectors he never has met. An Indianapolis youth has written to Mr. Roosevelt for several years. He first wrote him about a rare stamp in the Roosevelt collection.

When the Democratic standard bearer visited Indianapolis, the young stamp collector managed to shake his hand.

Mr. Roosevelt rides and swims. Before he was stricken with infantile paralysis he was a golfer. Poker-playing was one of the President-elect's diversions before the business of statecraft occupied his time. Occasionally on the yearly trips to Warm Springs, Ga., he would sit in with newspaper correspondents accompanying him.

A lasting tribute to his card playing ability is a row of straight flush hands on the wall of an exclusive club near Washington. There are seven of these hands and that is all that have been held in the club.

Two of these are labelled "F. D. Roosevelt."

lection of arterioles, that is, small arteries. When these arterioles for various reasons become altered, hardened or sclerotic, blocked or changed in other ways, there follows naturally a drop in the amount of blood that passes through them.

Since, however, the body must be rid of its soluble wastes and the kidneys are the principal organs for this function, the body compensates the defect in the arterioles by raising the blood pressure. Thereby more blood is forced through the kidneys.

This compensatory rise in the blood pressure, while making it possible for the kidneys to do their work, exposes the rest of the body, and especially the brain, to serious hazards. For, should a blood vessel break in the brain, a variety of untoward effects might follow.

In this second type of nephritis, high blood pressure is a prominent sign. Of course, high blood pressure is associated with other disease conditions.

The driver, Herman Broer, was driving the bus down a hill when an automobile driven by Edward P. Baum, backed into the path of the bus and Broer swerved to avoid hitting the machine. The machines collided and the bus swerved into the creek, remaining upright in about three feet of water.

Baum was bruised slightly.

Patou Captures Style In Bodice Lines

Decolletes should follow the principal theme of one's evening gown, according to Jean Patou. (Left) On a deep wine red evening gown of the new Velours Paysan, Patou cuts a horizontal strapping to the decollete that tends to diminish the greater length of bodice brought about by the lowered waistline, which is the theme of his new collection. (Right) On a Bordeaux red evening gown with a very low back, Patou adds an extra brace around the top of the arm to give width to the shoulders.

Plotted Kidnaping Of Famed Architect

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—(AP)—A plot to kidnap Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally famous architect, was disclosed here today with the information that Madison police are searching for the author of a threatening letter delivered to Mr. Wright at his home near Spring Green on Nov. 5.

Seven or eight students at the new school which Wright has established at his home, Taliesin, near Spring Green, were said to have been maintaining an armed guard since the note was delivered.

Wright is in New York. He will return to Wisconsin this week-end.

A Madison friend of the architect said that he will be accompanied by a personal bodyguard and that a close watch will be kept at Taliesin.

The kidnap note was mailed in an envelope postmarked from Madison on Nov. 5.

It demanded that a sum of money be deposited at an appointed place and declared that the architect would be abducted and held for ransom if he failed to comply.

It also threatened him with harm if he notified police. The instructions in the note were ignored.

The letter was hand-written and purported to come from a "Committee of Vigilantes." It was so signed.

Crop This Year Is Four- teen Per Cent Big- ger Than Last

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15.—Corn yields average higher in Illinois this year than for any year since records were started in 1866. This year's yield of 42.6 bushels per acre is higher than expected previous to husking returns and is one-half bushel greater than the previous record in 1925 according to the November 1 crop report of the Illinois and Federal Departments of Agriculture. The state 386,452,000 bushel corn crop is 14 per cent larger than the 1931 crop and 18 per cent above average. Corn matured early and is good quality. November 1 carryover of old corn is unusually heavy, and this carryover combined with the new crop production makes the state corn supply the largest in fifteen years. Other feeds are also generally plentiful.

Illinois soybeans were so well podded and filled that the yield per acre is higher than last year even though some stands were thin. Despite a somewhat smaller acreage being threshed for beans than in 1931, the total bean production is estimated at six million bushels and only slightly less than a year ago. Cowpeas threshed are yielding even better than last year but the production is estimated to be around 15 per cent less than the 1931 crop because nearly 20 per cent fewer acres are expected to be threshed for grain. Broomcorn production is estimated to be 30 per cent less than last year and almost one-fourth below an average crop for Illinois. The white and sweet potato crops in the state are considerably larger than last year or the average production. Buckwheat and sorghum sirup production is larger than last year but is less than usual because of smaller acreages.

Apples, peaches and pears were all short crops this year in Illinois. Peaches were a near failure, and pears produced only eight per cent of a full crop or 64,000 bushels compared with 760,000 bushels in 1931. The apple crop was only one-fourth as large as the big crop last year, the total this year being 2,068,000 bushels and the commercial part being estimated at 462,000 barrels. Late apples, which were gathered closely, averaged good in size and fine in color but there was more damage from insects and disease than usual. Grape production was above average but smaller than last year.

The estimated 2,920,698,000 bushel corn crop in the United States this year is the largest since 1923 and is 11 per cent above the average. Over six per cent or 154,974,000 bushels of the 1931 corn crop remained on United States farms on November 1. The total white potato crop was just above average but sweet potato production was large. Soybeans threshed produced 12,661,000 bushels or 14 per cent less than in 1931. United States broomcorn production this year was 34,200 tons compared with the also small crop of 44,600 tons last year.

Boy Of 12 Is Hero

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Twelve-year-old Herschel Dyer was the hero of his rural school mates and teacher today.

He was credited with saving the life of the teacher, Miss Lois Cheney at Maple Grove, near here, when he led in her rescue from beneath a hot stove in the school room where she had accidentally fallen.

It happened after school and when most of his fellow pupils had gone home. Playing in the school yard, Herschel heard a crash and ran inside to find his teacher lying on the floor partly under the stove. The book case was leaning against the stove and papers were smoldering.

Herschel called to his parents and neighbors and together they rescued Miss Cheney just as the papers burst into flame.

Today she was in a semi-conscious condition but physicians said she would recover. Her injuries consist of a burn on one cheek and she is suffering from inhaled smoke.

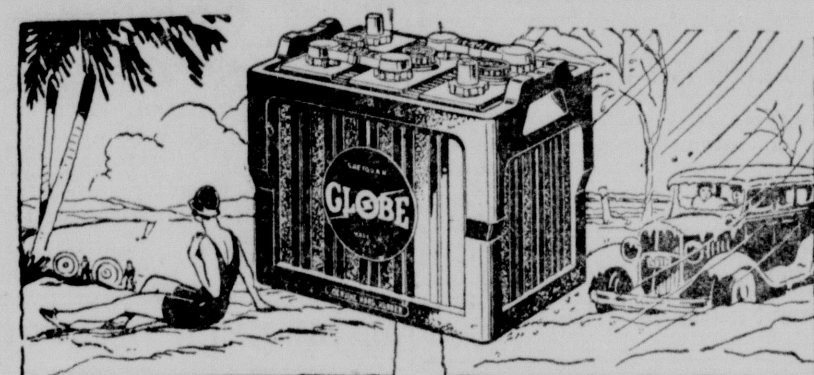

The accident happened when the teacher slipped and fell while attempting to reach papers on top of the book case, pulling the book case over in her frantic attempts to gain her balance.

New Circus Boss

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—John Ringling, last of the five showmen brothers, has taken his old friend, Sam Gumpertz into business with him, and for the first time the Ringling circus interests are going to have a boss who isn't a member of the family.

Gumpertz today confirmed reports he had been named Vice President and General Manager by the Board of Directors last Friday.

John Ringling, who always traveled with the show until last summer when he was laid up with an infected foot, remains President. Gumpertz owns 10 per cent of the stock of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, an organization which also controls the Sells-Floto, Hagenbeck-Wallace, Sparks, John Robinson and A. G. Barnes circuses. John Ringling owns 30 per cent, and the rest is divided among the heirs of his brothers.

Chesterfields are Milder

Chesterfields Taste Better

You know how it is. If a cigarette is mild—that is, not harsh or bitter, but smokes cool and smooth—then you like it and don't worry about how many or how often you smoke. And if it tastes right—that is, not oversweet, not flat—then you enjoy it all the more.

The right kind of ripe, sweet Domestic and Turkish tobacco... the right ageing and blending... make Chesterfields milder, better-tasting... They Satisfy!
